KEYNOTE SPEAKERS

VANEY HARIRI

Think 3D believes that the "secret sauce" to success doesn't lie in a rigid model or one-off motivational sessions, but rather in developing a culture of people focused on real, tangible steps that individuals and organizations can take to improve the future for every-one.

TAMIEN DYSART

Today's organizations are facing unprecedented challenges. Over 70% of the worldwide workforce self-reports that they are disengaged. In the ever-increasing challenge of doing business in this global and technology-focused economy, and the current world situation the bar has been raised for our current and future leaders.

We challenge participants to see how simple, yet tangible, steps can and must be taken to address the workforce gap, the shifting workplace environment, and the transition from our current unprecedented situation to transformation of opportunity and inspiration.

Founders Tamien Dysart and Vaney Hariri have over 3 decades of combined experience and leadership expertise working for various Fortune 500 companies. They have also authored the book Think 3D-A Radical New Approach to Maximizing the Potential of Your Team. Tamien earned his MBA in Business Management from the University of Sioux Falls and spent the last 10 years in senior leadership positions. Vaney has been an active participant and thought leader in the city of Sioux Falls, being involved with the human relations commission for 10 years, chairing it for 5 years and was recognized for his great work within the community when he received the Mayor's (Sioux Falls) Leadership Award in 2014. Their workshops and keynote presentations are interactive, inspirational, thought provoking and outcome focused.
