

ELIZABETH COLBERT-BUSCH – Ms. Colbert–Busch is the founder of Colbert Busch LLC, a firm specializing in building sustainable workforce development ecosystems through academic and industry partnerships. She serves as an economic development advisor to the President of Trident Technical College and the SC Aeronautical Training Center.

Elizabeth previously served as the Executive Director of Business Development and Community Engagement for the Clemson University Office of Academic Affairs in the Charleston area. From 2008–16 she was Director of Business Development for the Clemson University Restoration Institute (CURI), also in Charleston.

Before her tenure with Clemson University Elizabeth spent a 20–year career with Orient Overseas Container Line (USA) Incorporated during which she progressed from a Customer Service Representative to North America Regional Sales Director. She has served in leadership capacity on more than a dozen boards and community organizations and has earned numerous awards and special recognitions throughout her career. Most recently Elizabeth received an honorary doctorate in Humane Letters from the College of Charleston.